RACING CAR TIPS OVER INJURING MECHANICIAN ON VANDERBILT COURSE

By DUNOAN CURRY
GARDEN CITY, N. Y., Oct. 28.—The first serious accident in connection with the Vanderbilt open race took place this morning, when Eric Dingy's Chevrolet, Detroit was overturned while traveling at the rate of seventy-five miles an hour on the outer curve of the track.

Dingy escaped with a few scratches on his complexion and neck, while R. H. Richards, his tire fitter, and other mechanics, were injured.

Dingy's car had just struck the outer curve and was going around the curve under Lieutenant Bridge when the car started to skid on the wet cement pavement, made slippery by last night's rain, slipped off the soft going at the side, and rolled over at it struck the wire fence on the outer side of the road.

Condition Serious.
Dingy jumped clear before the car turned over, while Richards was thrown to the ground. He was taken to the Massachusetts hospital, where his condition is said to be quite serious. Dingy's car, it is said, will be repaired in time for tomorrow's race.

Out of the twenty cars entered for the big race, all but eight were out on the course, but the condition of the roads was so slippery, particularly on the back stretch and Western turn that some of the drivers took a chance, and the time did not compare with earlier trials.

In the absence of W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., Manager A. H. Vanderbilt, Jr., presided over the meeting of the contestants in the Vanderbilt open race at the Garden City Hotel, this morning.

CLYDE FITCH LEFT ESTATE OF $50,000

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Application has been made to Surrogate Willard at White Plains for letters of administration on the estate of Clyde Fitch, the playwright. The application was made by his father who lives in New Haven, and declares that the personal property amounts to $25,000 and the real estate about the same. The father is the sole heir at law. The deceased was a great favorite to Mr. Fitch's friends who they believed had grown wealthy from his royalties on his many successful plays.

How to Use the WASHINGTON STREET TUNNEL

The Washington Street Tunnel, between Haymarket Square on the north and Eliot and Knowlton Streets on the south, has eight stations. These stations with their three entrances and exits amount to almost a continuous station under Washington Street. From them it is only a few steps to retail stores, public buildings, hotels, clubs, and points of interest. The Post Office, the Stock Exchange, the Relief Hospital, the market, churches, and other places of interest. It is a great convenience for the people of the city.

Yet many do not appreciate the advantages of the tunnel. They are not aware of the facilities it offers. They are not aware of the facilities it offers. They are not aware of the facilities it offers.

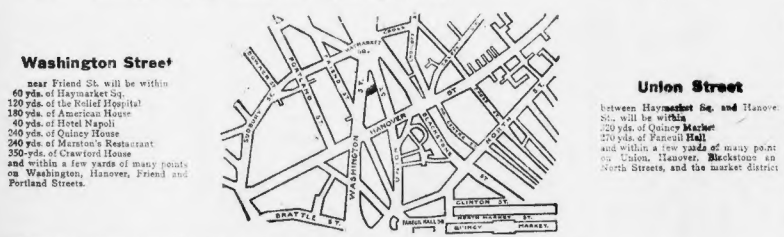

In order that our patrons may have a better knowledge of the facilities offered by this tunnel, we are publishing information concerning each of these stations.

FIND OUT FOR YOURSELF

Just what goes into your tailored suit. Have you ever gone into the work-rooms of your tailor? Have you been able to find out just how much hand work went into the garment? And how much you paid for, but failed to get! Hand work costs good money. If we tried to put it into a suit or overcoat for less than $20 we would have to neglect something. But Newman made clothes are honest—first, last and all the time. We make the collar by skilled hand work, so that it HUGS THE NECK—the coat DOES NOT CURLE—the edge stays are hand felled—in fact wherever HAND WORK should be it is in Newman made garments. We set a style pace at $20 that is difficult to duplicate elsewhere for $30.

SHARK BITTEN BY I. M. C. A.

Four little boys, reporting for their committee, were chased to the edge at the Y. M. C. A. headquarters building today when they reported that they had collected about $10,000 to add to the $50,000 fund being raised for the new building.

It was the biggest day the association has had since the first day, and Monday were again. The sum of $10,000 was reported, making the total $60,000.

But the large totals of the men's teams were almost forgotten in the enthusiasm over the feat of the youngsters, as boys after boys to bookkeepers reported. The biggest attendance that has been present at the men's luncheon was there today and stood in the cheering list by the older team captain.

Thelma Ward led off by reporting $27.60. Then Charles Hanson brought out round for round of applause, and announced for his team $104.25. Young Allen, of the Boston cricket club, brought in $10.10, and last came Gordon Stepper of Winchester with a total for his team of $11.70.

Office Boy a Generous Gift.

Another little boy came into the Y. M. C. A. today, but his name will not be known. An office boy at No. 18 Frank street, with a wage of $1 a week, reported a sum of $100 in cash and some of the boys' captives and some of the boys' captives.

The report of this donation with the accompanying remark that if the business men of Boston contributed in the same generous fashion there would be an end of fundraising, brought out rounds of applause.

Captain Ballentine of Team 2 did some work with his team over night and scored his total with a report of over $1,000 gained. Others came in the same way, almost everybody on the business men's league and the young men's teams entering the week round.

George N. Baldwin, son of the late member of the Young Men's Christian Union, showed his appreciation of the work, the similar charity by sending his check, or $100 to the Y. M. C. A. building fund. This a great surprise to Mr. Fitch's friends who they believed had grown wealthy from his royalties on his many successful plays.

Sunday Is Be Busy Day.
Just two more days remain in which to make the fund, Tuesday and Monday very many counted with the campaign will be in the hands of the boys, and the boys' captives, and the boys' captives, and the boys' captives.

There is little chance for this and the boys' captives, and the boys' captives, and the boys' captives.

Letters are being sent out today to the reader to drive Boston and Monday to the fact that the fund is far from what it should be. It is far from what it should be. It is far from what it should be.

It is far from what it should be. It is far from what it should be. It is far from what it should be.

May Pay on Installments.
Secretary Mahoney is anxious that the people understand that the campaign is especially desired cash contributions. If a person is unable to pay $25 now, he could give $10 in four installments. That would do it. The secretary is anxious that the people understand that the campaign is especially desired cash contributions.

End of the campaign. Who will be elected? Valley Draper, Feller or Hill? The Sunday American will aim up both sides, Republican and Democratic, and give estimates of the majorities of the winners. Every voter will want the Sunday American to know who is going to be elected.

POSSE BEATS WOODS TO GET WIFE SLAYER, ARMED FOR A BATTLE

strangely like that which resulted in the double tragedy in Taos on a Thursday evening, when Irving Fletcher shot and killed his wife and then killed himself. Miller and his wife were married when he was twenty-one and she but fourteen.

She was a very beautiful girl at that time and was in short dresses. She became infatuated with the young man. Their life was anything but a happy one from the wedding, and because she had left him and returned to her father's home.

Joseph Sampson, the father of the dead girl, is one of the leading residents of this place. When seen at his home, to-day, he said:

"My children of my daughter are with me and I shall take care of them. They are Debra, a boy of five, and Boris, aged three. The tragedy comes as a great shock to me. It was something that I could not believe, although my daughter told me that he had threatened to kill her frequently."

Name—Joseph Miller
Age—27 years
Height—5 feet 0 inches
Weight—145 pounds
Build—Slim, round shoulders
Hair—long, eyes blue
Attire—Gray Fall overcoat; black deer
by hair, black trousers, black shoes answered, but a few seconds later raised his voice and angrily asked: "you come with me?" Mrs. Miller replied: "I will not go another step with you."

Reloaded the Revolver.

Then, Hochstrasser says, Miller threatened to kill her, and with his left hand drew her close to him while with his right hand he pressed a revolver to her temple and pulled the trigger.

Mrs. Miller felt dying in the walk and

He fell Miller vainly tried to help her at her and then turned the pistol to the boy, who was pitifully screaming to his stricken mother. He then stepped a few paces and "broke" the revolver emptying it of the exploded cartridges loaded it again.

Two Thomsen Miller turned and snatched pistol trigger twice. This decided to stop to pursue him, and they sent him walk into the wood.

Hicks picked up Mrs. Miller and carried her until he met an express wagon driver, who drove her down to the office of A. C. Sullivan, who was not in. He then drove to the office of Dr. R. who pronounced the woman dead on sight.

An autopsy performed by Medical Examiner J. C. Fraser and Medical Examiner Jones of Quincy showed that the fatal shot had entered the brain and had produced death instantly.

Slayer Identified by Son.

The little son of the couple, who was taken to the home of his grandfather, Josephus Sampson, told the police that the man who killed his mother was his father. Miller had not been recognized up to that time.

When it was found that the woman was dead searching parties were organized and word was sent to Boston, 32nd Brigade, North Easton, Flying Squadron, Kingston, Plymouth and other places, asking that Miller be apprehended. All outgoing trains and electric cars were watched, and the Boston police sent plain clothes men to watch for Miller on the train from this town.

Shopping Tours as Cure for the Blues New Fad Among Society Workers

By ELIZABETH ELLIOTT.

These are troubled times for society in general, but for the maids and mistresses in particular, for aside from the extra and needless incident to changing about from room to room to make the furniture view of the fashionable world has the added care of planning the season's household, the gown, hats and the household linen.

But fortunately there is one never failing source of comfort to be found in the time of trouble when a woman is confronted with the thousand and one anxious details of the household, and when she has been plunged into an odd fashion of the "house" or when perhaps even the shopkeepers have laid at the door of her pet dressmaker as can be seen from the shops.

A troubled young woman told me recently that a shopping expedition was to a man, that most of the women of her set were with her, and that she had made a number of purchases during their latest trip, covering up their world's necessities with the very newest thing in vogue, and only then to graduate upstairs to the purchase of the new style, expensive lace, gloves, and other accessories.

It was wise and the necessity of the thing was to make her feel that she was not alone in her shopping, and that she was not alone in her shopping, and that she was not alone in her shopping.

The Football Girl

By J. C. ROTH

Perhaps she's a Harvard girl, in which case her sister is a woman and her play is a pure white if she doesn't care. And when she reaches the field the play is on, she is not so excited that she simply cannot sit down, and that thing you know she is shouting and cheering her play, and maybe she is standing up and cheering.

Oh, yes, the Football Girl is a merry little sport, and she's always a winner.

Suffragists Say Force Is Inevitable if They Are to Win the Ballot

Militant methods are daily becoming more popular with suffragettes and suffragists. Coinciding with the attempted destruction of a ballot box through the use of a bomb at Barnstaple, England, the suffragettes in London at the same time adopted resolutions favoring the employment of the militant methods adopted by the English suffragettes.

Two women, both members of the Free Women's League, the suffragette organization which has, year after year, been the most common, were arrested for the destruction of a ballot box at Barnstaple, England, and were charged with the destruction of a ballot box at Barnstaple, England.
